Description

The is made up of 1.8" of interwoven airfiber. What is airfiber?.is a proprietary technology from Airweave, a company born in Japan. It is made up of 100% food-grade polyethylene, is BPA free, eco-friendly, and hypoallergenic. The airfiber that makes up the core of the mattress was inspired by natural resin fishing line. At its core, it resembles firm, tangled, plastic string. The cover of the topper contains a combination of polyester (55%) and cotton (45%) to create a quilted mesh, with stitching that runs longitudinally to create a soft and clean aesthetic. The underside of the topper is a 100% polyester backing with a zipper to easily wash the cover and air dry.

Factory Tour

The Airweave mattress topper adds a significantly firmer feel to any mattress it is placed on. The airfiber material in the topper creates a quicker response time with higher levels of bounce. The mattress topper was first tested on top of a mattress placing at a 6 out of 10 on the firmness scale where 10 is the most firm. However, after placing the pad on top of the mattress I noticed a higher degree of support and firmness. When using the Airweave topper the firmness increased from a 6 to an 8 out of 10. The topper itself didn't allow for much sinkage and took away from the softer feel of the mattress. While there was a high degree of support, I didn't feel the pressure relief or contour that came from the underlying mattress. For additional comparison, I also tested this topper on a mattress that is 3.5 out of 10 on the firmness scale for greater contrast.
